

Delk J.H: A comprehensive Dictionary of Audiology. 2nd ed, the Hearing Aid Journal, Siouxcity, IOWA, P 130, 1973

Lloyd LL, H. Kapion: Audiometric Interpretation: A manual of Basic

Cox, LC & Metz DA. ABER in the prescription of hearing aids. Hearing Instruments, 31; 12-15 1980

Hecox KE, Breuninger, c & Kerbs D. Brainstem evoked responses obtained from hearing - aided adults. Journal of the Acoustical society of America 57:5, 3 1975

Jerger JF, Harford E, Clemis J, and Alfor dB .the acoustIC rcreflex in VIII nervedisor ders. Arch otolaryngol 4;99: 409- 413 1974

Kiessling J. Hearing aid selection by brainstcm audiometry. scand Audiol 11:269-275 1982

Kileng .P.P. Auditory brainstem responses as indicators of hearing aid

Libby E.R. The LDL to sspl 90 conversion dilemma. Hearing Instruments, 36: 15-16 1985

Lybarger S.F. Selective amplification - a review and evaluation. Journal of the American Audiology society, 3;6: 258-266 1978

Niemeyer. W. Relations between the discom forLevl and the reflex threshold of the middle ear muscles. Audiology 10: 172-176 1971

Sanders J.W. The slow brainstem response in pure tone audiometry and hearing aid evaluation Hearing Instruments 34,14, 16-20 1983

Traynor, R.M. Prescriptive procedures In Tobin, H(Ed): practical Hearing aid Selection and fitting. Department of Veterans affairs, Veterans Health Administration pp 61,1-63 1996
Cornelisse LE, Seewald RC, Jamieson DG. The input out Formula: a theoretical approach, to the Fitting of personal amplification devices, J Acoust Soc Am 1995; 1854-64

